

Dear members of the FCC,

In regard to the pending decision whether or not to relax the restrictions on media conglomeration, let me just say that I think it is a disturbingly bad idea. One need look no further for an example than to the well over a thousand cookie cutter Clear Channel stations that dot this nation like chicken-pox and which promote groupthink and have a decided political slant (to the right). I urge you not to let this happen to our other media outlets.

Thank you for your time,

Adam Becherer
